

No logo or text in the gray area
